Greater Part Of Army In Flanders Is Evacuated

Colorful Pageant Is Staged By 600 Girls At Taggart Stadium

Four thousand spectators applauded at Taggart stadium last night as 600 New Castle school girls, adorned in bright-colored costumes, maneuvered through brilliant marches and figure formations under the floodlights during the colorful "June Festival" which had for a climax the crowning of three lovely queens.

Not for several years has the city seen such an impressive demonstration.

Drawn from the health education classes of Senior high school and George Washington and Ben Franklin junior high schools, the well-rehearsed young ladies did an "A-No. 1" job of selling the public on the value and importance of physical education work in the schools.

Performance Cheered

Time and again cheers of approval from the stadium host bore testimony to the fact that the watchers were being impressed.

The performers' blue and white and orange and yellow and red costumes contrasted sharply with the soft green carpet of the athletic field. It was a sight of splendor.

"Ahs"—and more "ahs"—rolled every now and then in waves through the huge concrete stadium as the snappy marchers executed intricate turns and cross-marches and did them all without many hitches.

There were a few highlights before the stately coronation exercises—James Bowman of the Franklin faculty sang a solo during one of the marches, and others gave solo performances. For the most part, though, the affair was a mass demonstration which brought scores onto the field for every drill.

Occupy White Thrones

The queens occupied dignified white thrones across the field from the stadium throughout the marching program.

Cleveland Plane Crash Is Probed, Pilot Meets Death

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., June 4.—Inspectors of the Civil Aeronautics authority today investigated a plane crash west of nearby Mentor in which Michael D. Gould, 35, the pilot, was killed.

Gould, a former army flyer with almost 16 years of experience, bailed out at an altitude of 500 feet, but plummetted to his death when his parachute failed to open. Witnesses, including Gould's wife, Betty, 30, and his son, Michael, Jr., 12, said the open cockpit biplane suddenly went into a power dive and failed to pull out.

Germans Claim 300 To 400 French Planes Destroyed In Paris Raids

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BERLIN, June 4.—The huge fortress at Dunkerque was captured by the German army after a hard battle with the Allied troops, the German high command announced today.

Forty-thousand Allied prisoners were captured, the high command said.

BERLIN, June 4.—Penetration of Dunkerque by German troops and destruction of between 300 and 400 French fighting planes during yesterday's aerial attack on the Paris region were announced by the German high command today.

The official communique said:

"The battle for Dunkerque is nearing its end. Our troops penetrated the town and captured Fort Louis from the desperately fighting enemy.

House To House Fighting

"House to house fighting between British and French troops is still in progress. The French were posted to protect the flight of British soldiers.

"As already announced in a special report, a German air force comprising units of all types of planes surprisingly attacked French air force bases around Paris. They succeeded in eliminating enemy air defense and in attacks at high and low altitude they obtained strongest results against ports and industrial establishments of the French air force.

"Numerous fires and explosions were observed.

Casualty List In Paris Raid Much Higher

Toll Is Mounting After Paris Attack By German Bombers

PARIS AWAITING NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Germans Rushing Preparations For New Drive On Paris, Belief

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 4.—With every indication pointing to a far greater casualty list than officially announced after yesterday's German air raid on Paris, this capital waited with complete calm today the next spectacular development of the war.

While informed quarters revealed unofficially that Allied war planes had bombed military objectives in Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's favorite city of Munich in reprisal for the Paris attack, the suspense here became almost a tangible thing as the war whirled on to its new climax.

Developments Expected

Paris expects these three developments:

1—A grand German offensive on Paris, with the utilization of every military weapon known.

2—Active Italian participation in the war.

3—Renewed air bombardments on a scale heretofore undreamed of.

So far as the last is concerned, this was a perfect day for it, if yesterday may be regarded as a criterion. Once again it was hot and sultry, with a cloudless but hazy sky.

But the next raid on Paris will tke no one by surprise. The attitude is now one of "attente" or expectant waiting.

Most observers believed that a new German offensive and Italian entry will coincide—possibly if not probably before the end of this week.

Plan For Assault

The Germans are rushing to completion their organization of supplies and troop concentrations and repair of their battered panzer (mechanized) divisions for a blow in the north. German movements

Port Of Narvik Badly Damaged By Nazi Bombardment

(International News Service)

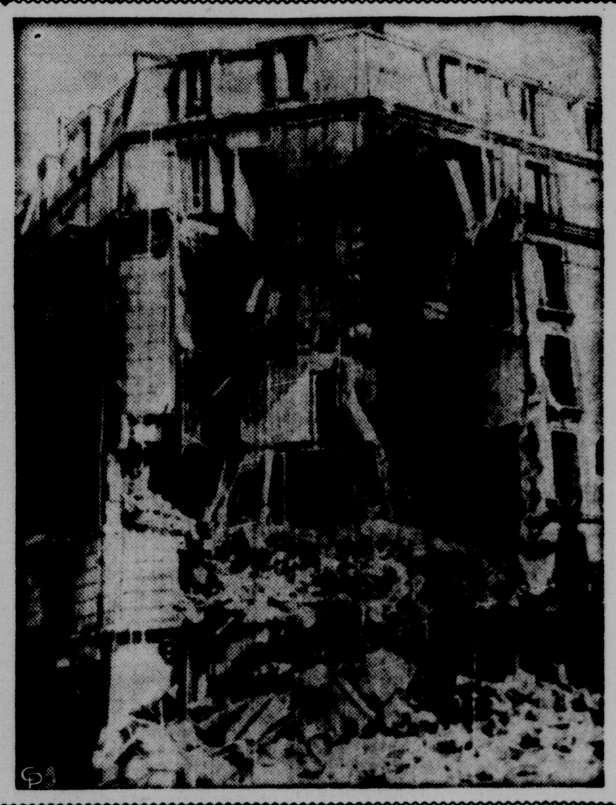
STOCKHOLM, June 4—The Norwegian port of Narvik captured by British and Norwegian troops after a long siege, is a mass of smoking ruins as the result of a full-scale German air bombardment Sunday it was learned in Stockholm today.

Eleven German planes launcned the attack, dropping a number of incendiary bombs in the southern part of the town. These started fires which quickly spread to the north.

Banks, hotels and the post office were destroyed and the main street reduced to shambles. Damages were estimated at several million kroner.

British fighters went aloft and engaged the bombers, shooting several down into the sea.

Death Rains Down Upon The Streets Of Paris



A smashing attack by German air squadrons numbering several hundred planes caused approximately 200 casualties, of which one-fourth were killed, and wide-spread damage to the city of Paris. Pictured, above, is a gendarme wrapping a blanket about the dead body of an aged woman killed in the streets by a bomb. At the right is a seven-story apartment house, the front of which has been smashed away by an exploding bomb. More than 1,000 bombs were dropped. The raid was characterized as having been directed at military objectives in the environs of Paris.

Need Of Call For National Guard Told In Secret

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 4 — The army's chief of staff, Gen. George C. Marshall, went before the House Military Affairs Committee today to tell the members in secret why the war department believes President Roosevelt should have emergency authority to call out the National Guard.

Decision to hear the general behind closed doors was reached after he had been on the witness stand less than ten minutes giving carefully worded public testimony. It it, Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation for power to muster the National Guard was warmly endorsed by Gen. Marshall. He said:

"This recommendation is my recommendation. We feel that it is essential if we are going to avoid serious trouble that we put our military establishment on a solid basis.

"In a sense we are visualizing requirements for use of a fire extinguishing rather than to employ the whole fire department. We are thinking exclusively of the western hemisphere.

Monroe Doctrine Stressed By Hull

Warns American Territories Will Not Become Subject Of Conquest

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Secretary of State Hull, in a modern corollary of the Monroe Doctrine, declared today that territories of the Western Hemisphere must not "become the subject of barter or conquest" between rival European powers.

In a pointed warning to Germany that it cannot expect to take over the possession of other European countries here without American opposition, Hull said that any threat of such action would call for immediate consultation among the Pan-American powers as to necessary steps to safeguard their common interests.

His statement was in the form of a letter to Chairman Bloom (D.), N. Y., of the House foreign affairs committee. Bloom yesterday introduced a resolution in the House to provide for a congressional statement of American policy on this subject, and had asked Hull for comment on the resolution.

German Troops Launch Terrific New Onslaught Upon Dunkerque Shambles

By JOHN MACVANE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 4.—German troops opened a terrific new onslaught against the shambles of Dunkerque today in an effort to wipe out the last remnants of the British expeditionary force being evacuated across the channel.

(Editor's Note: Berlin announced that German troops had penetrated Dunkerque, capturing Fort Louis.)

Evacuation Continues

Despite heavy pressure from artillery, infantry and the Nazi air force, the evacuation continued steadily, French military sources said.

Several German torpedo launches operating from Belgian bases were sunk, the spokesman said.

French military men admitted that the German circle around Dunkerque is tightening, but conviction was expressed that Prime Minister Winston Churchill will be able to announce success of the evacuation operation when he addresses the House of Commons today.

Meanwhile, the Somme-Aisne front remained quiet except for occasional "feeling out" artillery exchanges which the French described as "not particularly important."

Several German Raids

Several German raids on French outposts in the Saar region were reported.

Earlier, progress of the Dunkerque evacuation was announced in an official statement.

The withdrawal is going forward "despite ceaseless and increasing enemy pressure," the French war communique said.

Churchill Tells Of Evacuation From Flanders

Miracle Of Deliverance Saved Greater Part Of Allied Army, He Says

ENGLAND EXPECTS NEW NAZI ATTACK

Flanders Result Is "Colossal Military Disaster" House Is Told

CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 4.—A "colossal military disaster" occurred in Flanders, but a miracle of deliverance saved the "root and core" of the whole British army and 335,000 Allied troops have been evacuated safely from Dunkerque, Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the house of commons today.

British losses in guns and mechanized equipment were "enormous", Churchill admitted. The army in the north lost virtually everything, and it was the best that England possessed.

In an utterly frank statment which included the disclosure that virtually an entire British force of 4,000 was wiped out at Calais, Churchill warned England to be ready for a Nazi attack and announced that the Allies would fight to the last man rather than surrender.

Expect New Blow

"We must expect another blow to be struck almost immediately on us or on France," Churchill said.

"We are told that Hitler has a plan of invading Britain . . . this has often been thought of before... Napoleon was told 'there are bitter weeds in England.'

"There certainly are a good many more bitter weeds since the B. E. F. returned."

Even if England is subjugated Churchill said, the empire abroad "guarded by the British fleet will carry on the struggle until in God's time the new world, with all its force and men, sets forth to liberation and rescue of the old world."

"Colossal Military Disaster"

"Thankfulness over the escape of our army," he said, "must not blind us to the fact that what has happened is a colossal military disaster."

Thirty thousand men were killed, wounded or taken prisoner, Churchill said. But last week, he continued, he thought he would be compelled to announce that the expeditionary force, on which Britain plans to build "great armies in the later years of the war, had perished in the field or been led into "ignominious and starving captivity."

The prime minister paid highest tribute to all the armed forces of the nation which contributed to the successful evacuation. He revealed that the aerial defenses of London had been stripped down to supply planes to combat the raiding Germans.

Churchill told in detail the assist-

ITALY TAKES LONG STEP TOWARD ENTRY INTO WAR

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, June 4—Italy took a long step toward entry into Euprope's war today when the Italian council of ministers approved a series of measures putting the nation and the Italian African empire on a footing for conflict.

The measures were decided upon at a meeting of the council under presidency of Premier Mussolini. A communique was issued after the session ended, outlining broad details of the new measures but withholding detail.

One measure adopted approved a series of steps designed to give execution to "international agreements of various kinds." It was believed that this gives the government full authority to carry out all and any stipulations provided for under the Rome-Berlin axis pact.

The communique stated the ministers adopted a law applying to Italian Africa all measures for organization of the Italian nation for war.

The ministers also approved a measure under which women will replace male civil service employees called to the colors.

thus far indicate that the attack will come between the Somme and the Aisne.

As to Italy's entry, there is no longer the slightest shadow of doubt anywhere. It is only a question of the hour. Highest Italian officials themselves have seen to disposition of any possible lingering doubt these last few days by openly boasting in diplomatic circles in Rome of their impending war against France.

While awaiting new developments in the air, Paris continues tabulation of yesterday's raid which was, of course, the worst of the war to date.

Loss of civilian life and the number of wounded are likely to prove much higher than the figures so far available indicate.

For example, Carolyn Nash of the Washington volunteer ambulance corps this morning reported four killed and eighty wounded at a bombed hospital. As digging in the ruins continues and information is compiled, the figures will mount.

35 Suburban Towns Hit

I learned that 35 suburban towns outside of Paris were hit. (Here nine words censored.)

Many towns were still smoking this morning. However, full shifts of workmen are busy at the Controen plant, which was not so badly damaged as first appeared.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The name of the above plant is being spelled as received by cable, it is likely, however, that this is a garbled version of Citroen, one of the largest automotive plants in France, which presumably since the war has been engaged exclusively in manufacturing airplanes or aviation parts. The plant is owned by Andre Citroen, who has sometimes been called the "Henry Ford of France.")

A military spokesman said that seventeen still stands as the number of German planes shot down, although this may increase when all reports are in.

The spokesman said it was impossible to estimate the number of bombers used in the raid, since it was difficult to distinguish them from their accompanying fighters. The Germans, he declared, appeared to aim mainly at military objectives such as air fields, railroads leading to Paris and factories, although some planes dropped explosives haphazardly, resulting in civilian casualties.

R.O.T.C. Can Aid In Emergency

Over 6,600 Men Are Enrolled In Pennsylvania Colleges, Figures Reveal

By LEONARD APFELBAUM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 4.—More than 6,600 men enrolled in 11 Reserve Officers' Training Corps' units, in Pennsylvania's institutions of higher learning, held themselves in readiness for call by the United States in event of a national emergency.

Interest was focused anew on the R. O. T. C. and the Citizens' Military Training Corps from which officers will be selected in event of sudden need.

The largest of the R. O. T. C. units in the state is at the Pennsylvania State College, where 2,101 men are training three to five hours a week under the direction of army officers. Other units in Pennsylvania and their enrollment include:

Carnegie Institute of Technology, 468; Drexel Institute of Technology, 722; Duquesne University, 166; Gettysburg College, 156; Jefferson Medical College, 188; Lafayette College, 183; Lehigh University, 923; Pennsylvania Military College, 134; University of Pennsylvania, 367; University of Pittsburgh, 954; and Valley Forge Military Academy, 325.

Conception of the role these men will play in event of war was given by Major Wharton, attached to the military staff at Penn State, and recently transferred from the Philippines:

"R. O. T. C. does not obligate a man for duty," the Major declared, "unless he enrolls in the advanced course and signifies his willingness to accept a commission in the organized reserves. The basic course, a two year period of training, only prepares him to assume his duties in event he volunteers or is drafted."

THOMAS CRAMER WINS NEW HONOR

Becomes Finalist In Competition For Stokowski's All American Youth Orchestra

Adding new laurels to an already long list of achievements, Thomas Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cramer of 729 County Line street has been named as a finalist in the nation wide competitioin for Leopold Stokowski's All-American Youth Orchestra it was announced today. Mr. Cramer was selected as a trombone player.

He is a junior in Oberlin College Conservatory of Music and a former members of the senior high school orchestra and band. When the nation wide competition was announced for promising young American musicians, Mr. Cramer competed locally first. He then went into the semi-finals in Pittsburgh where he was auditioned by Saul Caston, assistant to Mr. Stokowski.

Out of that competition three western Pennsylvania musicians were selected, Mr. Cramer being one of the three. He is the only musician in western Pennsylvania, outside of Allegheny county that was selected.

Leopold Stokowski himself will audition the finalists. The winners will become members of the 109 piece All-American Youth Orchestra. Mr. Cramer's winning of the coveted place in the finals is a flattering commentary upon his ability.

The arrangements for the tryouts were handled locally and through the state by the National Youth Administration.

ance given by the French and British navies in the evacuation and the heroic role played by volunteer fishermen, yachtment and rivermen in bringing the Allied armies to safety.

"The army carried on day and night with little or no rest," he said.

Made Trip After Trip

"The navy made trip after trip, always bringing men out...The numbers brought back are the measure of the courage of all concerned...

"Hospital ships brought off many thousands of wounded and were the special target of Nazi bombs. Our air force brought into use part of the main metropolitan strength and struck at the German fighters and bombers.

"Now the scene is clear.

"The crash and thunder have momentarily died away.

"A miracle of deliverance has been achieved by valor, perfect discipline, faultless service and the resource and skill of all.

"The enemy was thrown back. The air force inflicted losses of four to one.

"One thousand ships carried over 335,000 Britons and Frenchmen off those shores and back to their native lands out of the jaws of death.

"We must be most careful not to assign to this deliverance the attributes of victory.

Not Won By Evacuation

"Wars are not won by evacuation, but there was a victory inside of this deliverance which should be noted. It was gained by the air force.

"This was a great trial of strength between the British and German air forces. The German air force tried hard and was beaten back. We got our army away.'

"Thankfulness over the escape of our army must not blind us to the fact that what has hapened is a colossal military disaster.

"We shall reconstitute and build the B. E. F. up again under gallant General Gort (Lord Gort, British commander-in-chief).

"In the meantime, we must put the state of defenses of this island in high preparedness.

"The British and the French will defend to the death their native soil.

"They will fight on the oceans, on landing-grounds, in the fields and in the streets.

"We shall never surrender.'

Mrs. Jack Miller and Mrs. Elmer Reiber are co-chairman in charge of festivities.

Winners for the last golf flag tournament, included Mrs. N. L. Maxwell, Mrs. Don McGrew and Mrs. James Stone. A similar event will again be observed on Thursday of this week on the Field club golf course, with Mrs. Don McGrew in charge of the tournament.

Past Worthy Mistresses

Past Worthy Mistresses club members, will hold their regular meeting Friday afternoon from 1:30 to 4 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Blanche Lewis, Butz street.

BEAVER FALLS WEDDING OF INTEREST LOCALLY

Of interest locally, is the wedding which took place Saturday evening, June 1, in Beaver Falls, in the St. John's United Evangelical Protestant (Barry) church, when Miss Beulah Marie Rosenberger and Lawrence Morton Wilson were united, by the Rev. Robert Clarke of College Hill. He was assisted by the Rev. C. S. Hayner, and the vows were exchanged at 7:45 o'clock in the presence of three hundred guests before a beautifully embanked altar. The bride was given in marriage by her father, John C. Rosenberger.

Mrs. Harold Bruce, niece of the groom, and organist, contributed appropriate nuptial selections preceding and during the ceremony. She accompanied Mrs. Margaret Zahn Hetzler, soloist, who sang two numbers.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white net with small bowsknots, a sweetheart neckline and puff sleeves. Her veil was fingertip length, and her arm bouquet was of white Kilarney roses, gardenias and valley lilies. Her sister, Mary Louise Rosenberger, was maid of honor, and she wore a pink net gown and carried a harmonizing arm bouquet. Bridesmaids were Edna K. Steinbach and Grace A. Fishkorn, who wore gowns in yellow and blue.

Edwin C. Clarke, of Beave Falls, served as best man, and ushering were Dr. Harold A. Bruce of Beaver Falls, and Frederick R. Rosenberger of Baden.

A reception followed at the bride's home, and aides were Grace Wilson, of Butler, and Lorene Houston, of Houston, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left on a Canadian trip and after June 9 will be at home near Wampum.

Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of the New Brighton High school, and attended Beaver Conservatory of Music. She was organist at Burry's church for a number of years. Mr. Wilson was graduated from Ellwood City High and attended Penn State and Geneva college. At the present time, he is affiliated with the Dodds store of Beaver Falls.

MERCER BRIDE-ELECT GIVEN PARTY HERE

A lovely party of interest, was given recently in the home of Mrs. Austin L. Cowmeadow on Clayton street, when she entertained jointly with Misses Nettie Irene Mann and Laura Cowmeadow, at a dessert-bridge, honoring Miss Dorothy Elder, bride-elect of Mercer. She will be married to Orville Anderson, of New Wilmington, on June 15.

The event was in the form of a personal shower, and the honoree was presented with a collection of attractively wrapped packages, which were brought into the living room on a decorated wagon, drawn by Connie Lee, four year old daughter of Mrs. Cowmeadow.

The serving was followed by a game in bridge, two tables being on display with Miss Hulda Morrison and Mrs. Jane Cannon winning the prizes. In 500, another pastime, Mrs. Wesley Mann was the fortunate winner.

HERSHEY AUXILIARY HAS DINNER-MEETING

Hershey Auxiliary associates of he First Presbyterian church assembled in the church dining rooms Monday evening and enjoyed a deliciously prepared dinner party, with sixty members and four special guests sharing honors. The serving took place at 6:30 at tables, prettily arranged with spring blooms.

Mrs. H. E. Golder conducted the meeting and Mrs. A. A. Webb had charge of the religious period, using the theme, "Following the Christ" for an inspiring talk. Special musical selections were presented by the trio, Mrs. H. W. Lightner, Mrs. Lester Hauschild and Mrs. William Woodworth. Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine was the featured speaker and gave an enlightening discussion on "Esther".

Hostesses for the delightful event were: Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser, Mrs. John Waddington, Mrs. Lucen Black, Mrs. Fred Clemens, Mrs. Albert Jenkinger, Mrs. Della Glenn, Mrs. Lester Hauschild, Mrs. C. C. Sweesy, Mrs. J. R. Mead and Mrs. R. D. Rosenberger.

QUEEN ESTHERS END SEASON MONDAY NIGHT

In the lovely home of the president, Mrs. Wilbur McKibben on Euclid avenue, Queen Esther class members of the Third United Presbyterian church assembled Monday evening, for their last monthly session of the season. Co-hostesses on this occasion, included Mrs. William McBride, Mrs. Thomas Baskeyfield and Miss Helen Marietta.

Mrs. Bernard Hook, teacher of the class had charge of the religious period, and was ably assisted by Mrs. Harold Walton.

Mrs. McKibben was in charge of the routine period, when plans were made for their picnic outing, to be held Monday, July 1, at Cascade park. The social committee will be in charge.

Mrs. Virginia Bray, a former member, was welcomed back into the class at last evening's assembly, and Miss Mabel Kocher of Sewickley was the out-of-town member present.

Featuring the entertainment, a novel "hat exchange" took place, with hats dating back to the gay nineties to the flower pots designed of the present 1940's. These were modeled by the membership, some styles being improvised from flower pots, and kitchen utensils, causing a riot of merriment. Miss Betty Gray and Mrs. Lorrin Gray were in charge of the entertainment, and awarded brilliancy prizes to Mrs. Bernard Hook and Miss Edyce Brandon for their average in the quizzes conducted.

A tempting repast was served at the close, by the hostesses.

B. P. W. CLUB SPEAKER TELLS "MEXICO TRAVELS"

Monday evening, at the Y. W. C. A., members of the Business and Professional Woman's club gathered in regular session, with president, Miss Genevieve Riddle, in charge. Featuring, was a fine talk on "Mexico" given by Miss Rosena McGurk.

Miss McGurk told in a colorful manner, of her recent travels to Mexico, and in addition, illustrated with a collection of pictures which she had painted there. Also, she exhibited Mexican baskets, pottery and other articles.

Girl Scouts who contributed appropriate Mexican songs and dances during the evening, included Lois Cunningham, Nora Cunningham, Patti Haley, Mary Nolan, Pauline Nolan, Lorena Lehman, Nancy Lehman, Betty Hannon, Ruth Capitola, Maureen Dolan, Geraldine Fee, Clare Wadlinger, Delores Wadlinger, Rosalie Gallaher, Edna Buckley, Theresa McCart, Margaret Ratchford, Eileen Murphy, Agnes O'Connor and Helen Gibbons. They were accompanied by Miss Mary Maher.

Preceding, dinner was enjoyed by the club members, and marking each place at the prettily arranged tables, were found individual shoulder corsages, which were made especially by members of the Girl Scout Troop, 14.

The B. P. W. club received an invitation to attend the birthday parties of the Butler club on June 11 and the anniversary event planned by the Meadville club on June 10. Miss Genevieve Riddle is in charge of reservations.

The next meeting of the club will be held on June 17, which will be in the form of a picnic outing, at the club cottage.

FAITH IN DEMOCRACY A DEFENSE NEED

(From Philadelphia Inquirer)

IT IS imperative that protection against Trojan Horses and Fifth Columns be made an important part of our gigantic new defense program.

Fleets of planes and ships and all the mechanized equipment and modern armament we can devise conceivably would be worthless as safeguards against aggression if we permitted chiseling agents of Nazism and Communism to undermine our national structure.

But it is just as imperative that, through education in democracy and faith in the abiding principles of American liberty, we build up in this country moral as well as material bulwarks against which Trojan Horses and Fifth Columns will charge in vain.

Congress is commendably at work on measures intended to curb un-American activities such as have been revealed startlingly by the Dies Committee.

We have to be on guard, in this crusade, against impairing in the slightest degree the validity of the Bill of Rights which is the specific guarantee of the American individual's freedom under the Constitution.

But we also have to be on guard against aliens and others who, while enjoying the protection of the Bill of Rights, plot to destroy the very liberties it was designed to protect.

Federal policing to deal with all phases of espionage, sabotage and Fifth Column operations is being greatly expanded, and this is a good thing.

The people of this country, of course, will not tolerate "witch hunts" or campaigns of persecution in which innocent persons are made victims of spite or neighborhood gossip. They will not stand for any police injustice savoring of the Gestapo or the Ogpu. If we are to defend America from alien "isms" we must use American methods, not those of the dictatorships whose poisons we are fighting.

But while maintaining Constitutional guarantees and avoiding spy scares, witch hunts, hysteria and panic, it is mandatory that we curb the foreign agents who are boring from within to weaken our democracy.

Not only in our country but in Central and South America does this menace to the peace and welfare of the Western Hemisphere exist.

Since early in April there has been a reported influx of German "salesmen" and "technical experts" into Mexico. These Germans are said to be arriving, mostly by air, from other Latin-American countries.

Whatever their errands, it is at least noteworthy that this movement bears marked resemblance to Nazi Fifth Column tactics in Scandinavia, The Netherlands and Belgium.

Brazil, Uruguay and other South American republics also have Trojan Horse problems. To what extent they are proof against this alien threat to the solidarity of the Americas has yet to be tested.

But whether or not it ever becomes necessary for the United States to help the Latin-American countries protect themselves and this continent against subversive influences imported from overseas, we can't afford to close our eyes to the possible danger to our own country inherent in any spread of Nazism or Communism south of the Rio Grande.

It is essential that the American government be on the alert against Trojan Horses and Fifth Columns in this country and in all the Americas. But it is also essential that the American people make their faith in democracy so strong that it will repel the alien "ism" termites.

One of the potential weaknesses of democracy is that it tends to take itself for granted. But the American people will be making a grave mistake if they go on taking their nation's democracy for granted and living in indolent trust that because it has existed for more than a century and a half it is impervious to harm from within.

The moral defense of American democracy doesn't consist of flag-waving or boasting of this country's greatness. It consists of deep faith that our way of life, our religious, social and political liberties are the best thus far devised for the comfort and happiness of human beings.

Freedom from religious and racial intolerance, freedom from narrow and regimented thought, freedom for the individual to grow in knowledge and in wisdom, freedom for him to express his own opinions, to live his own life, to make the most of what opportunities he has—these are but a few of the priceless privileges assured by American democracy.

Our democracy has to be protected not only from foreign agents working for Moscow and Berlin regimes that regard ideas of freedom and liberty as dangerous. It has to be protected from those of our own people whose faith in the American system is so weak that they are easily impressed by spreaders of dictators' doctrines.

We can't begin too early to teach our children the fundamentals of American democracy. Saluting the flag, repeating pledges and singing patriotic songs are only outward tributes to Americanism. Children, and grown-ups, too, should some to understand that American democracy, far from being dogmatic nationalism, is an ideal of the human race that must be safeguarded against any and all threats.

We must protect our democracy not alone by smashing down the alien plotters in our midst but by building high and strong our moral defenses of the American system.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HEALTHY BABIES SLEEP MOST OF TIME

The very young baby ought to sleep practically all the time when not being fed or bathed; at two or three months, nineteen to twenty hours; at six months he should sleep about twelve hours at night with only one regular interruption at night for feeding. He should also have, both morning and afternoon, a nap of about two hours each period. These naps, which may grow shorter, should continue at the age of a year, with a twelve-hour period at night.

Later, the morning nap may grow shorter and shorter when it finally will be abandoned at the age of two or so. Thereafter, until school interrupts, the afternoon nap is very essential.

Nothing so essential to good sleep habits as strict regularity. A variation of fifteen minutes may entirely upset them. A separate bed is important. There should be enough cotton pads and blankets so these articles need never be left wet after the baby's clothing has been changed.

Beware Draughts

The temperature of the sleeping room should not be over 60 degrees, but well ventilated without draughts. The windows should be open all night preferably with a canvas screen. Though there should be no disturbing noises, the infant will easily adapt himself to the usual home noises.

After several weeks, sleep out-of-doors may be desirable. Some recommended that the baby should not be out in temperature much below 40 degrees. In a crowded city, a well ventilated room may be better. If you have followed such a program strictly and your baby does not go to sleep readily, or sleeps restlessly, consult your physician.

Be sure you do not allow yourself to train your baby to command you to take him up, to take him into bed with you, to lie down with him or beside him, to feed him off schedule, and the like. Most sleep problems in young children grow out of the human frailties of their parents—easy to say, hard to correct in ourselves and just as hard for others whom we advise, to correct. Always was, always will be. Good luck.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE FIFTH COLUMNS

National governments are becoming very keenly alive to the fact that within each nation there is today a Fifth Column, actively engaged in aiding and assisting the enemies of that Nation. This Fifth Column prepares the way for the enemy. There was a very effective Fifth Column in Norway, — Norwegians who were real traitors to their Nation. The same is true in Denmark, in the Netherlands and in Belgium.

There is a very active Fifth Column in these United States; in fact, it might be said that there are several Fifth Columns. There is the Fifth Column of Soviet Russia; there is the Fifth Column of Nazi Germany and there is one of Fascist Italy. The Dies Committee, investigating individuals plotting against the government of these United States, has shown how widespread are the activities of these Fifth Columns.

Clarence Budington Kelland, president of the "Dutch Treat Club" of New York, has enraged Willem van Loon by his remarks in the Club concerning our President. Kelland said that the Fifth Column in the United States was very active and its activities were led by "that fellow in the White House." Van Loon, an admirer of the President, became so angry that he resigned from the club. Kelland says that he believes van Loon has "lost his sense of proportion" because he had made previous characterizations of the New Deal as far as the Fifth Column is concerned and that "I will do it again."

Now, the President is not a traitor. He cannot be designated as such in any way, but the New Deal fathered, of course, by the President, has encouraged un-American activities to a tremendous extent. It is needless to go into the matter of how the New Deal has encouraged the Fifth Column. One instance is sufficient. I need only mention the name of Harry Bridges and his activities. Harry Bridges is an alien. He has openly said many things against the present form of government of the United States which have warranted his expulsion from the country long ago, but he still remains, actively engaged in spreading his very dangerous doctrines.

The American citizen has only to read from day to day the revelations made by the Dies Committee to realize to what extent the Fifth Column has been working. England is today cleaning house, putting all aliens within its borders in Concentration Camps. It is high time something was being done by the authorities of the United States of America to end the activities of the Fifth Column.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

"My grandmother," says Margie, "insists that it is in very bad taste for me to travel in my good clothes—even for a two-hour trip to spend a weekend."

Most etiquette rules are based on practical considerations. In grandmother's day, it was considered improper to travel in good clothes because of the smoke and cinders that poured into railroad trains and the dust and gravel that poured into horse-drawn vehicles or automobiles traversing early, unpaved roads. Those who can now travel in air-conditioned railway cars whose windows are kept down or in modern automobiles speeding over concrete highways may quite properly wear en route clothes in which they are to appear at some social function immediately after arrival, provided of course the costume is not too delicate to withstand the ride. It is still in poor taste for a woman to make a long trip in decollete or other evening clothes, and even under the most perfect modern conditions it would be rather perilous for her to thus travel in white, pale blue or pale pink.

WILLING TO TRY

It happened, they say, down in court. A tough looking individual had been called as a witness.

"Do you promise to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help you God?" asked the clerk, repeating the old court formula.

"What's that?" asked the witness.

The clerk repeated, in slower time.

"I guess so," said the witness. "No one can say that I'm not the man to try anything once."

What's What At A Glance

Paraguay's Soldiers Youngest
Insurance And War
Unique U. S. Situation

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Illustrative of the bitterness of warfare in Europe, dispatches from overseas mention the fact that Britain has asked its youth, from 18 to 19 years of age, to volunteer for home defense duty. These lads are not drafted. Conscription age begins at 20. Still, the boys are available for actual fighting if any Germans land in England by parachute or otherwise.

Commentators speak of 18 as pretty young for a kid to be invited into the army.

And so it is, but it's been done younger and on up to a ripe old age, too.

About the youngest and the oldest that I ever heard of were the prevailing rule in Paraguay in the days of the dictator, Francisco Lopez, just after our North American war of secession. That's too far back to be current news, but the record does go to show that our war of today, while on a much larger scale, isn't a circumstance, for ferocity, compared with that one.

Odds 50-to-1

Little Paraguay had a population then of about 1,000,000.

It took on, simultaneously, Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay, with a total around 50,000,000.

It may seem as if the row must have been forced upon Paraguayan Dictator Lopez, but it wasn't. He started it.

Fifty-to-one odds weren't quite as heavy as Russia's 60-to-1 odds against Finland, but it's to be remembered that Finland lasted only a few weeks. Lopez fought Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay, combined, for four years. His conscription ages were from 12 to 70.

Paraguay's male population virtually was exterminated, from Lopez, who was killed, too, right on down to school children.

For years the republic was a land of women, while little boys under Lopez's minimum conscription age of 12 were growing up.

And we think that our wars of today are vicious affairs!

War Insurance

A Washingtonian who hasn't been in the habit of regarding Herr Hitler as an immediate menace in the United States was renewing a fire insurance policy the other day.

I don't mean to say that the Washingtonian in question doesn't consider Adolf a dangerous character or that he doesn't recognize the European struggle as an indirect peril to this country.

But he hadn't reckoned that concerns like fire insurance companies were anticipating sure-enough raids by German blitzkriegers upon American cities yet awhile.

Nevertheless, this particular company introduced a clause into its policy to the effect that its guarantees didn't count in the event of a fire due to war.

Unique In America

Robert Goldstein, one of the capital's leading insurance men, was asked whether the war clause is becoming general.

This, he said, was the first case he's heard of in the United States, but in Europe, he added, it's the rule.

Other agents were of the opinion that the precaution is somewhat overdone at present, so far as this side of the Atlantic is concerned, but they wouldn't predict what will follow if the Nazis go on with their European successes as they have been doing recently.

The Great Game Of Politics

They Clamor For Taxes

WASHINGTON, June 4.

A STRANGE and rather stirring thing has happened within the past ten days which upsets certain preconceived notions of the politicians and increases respect for the character of the American people. There has been a very simple demonstration that in a national crisis they have more courage and more sense than their so-called leaders.

CERTAINLY, the evidence is strong that both these qualities are more inherent in the electorate than has been believed by the political figures now charged with formulating public policies. Testimony as to that has been given in the matter of taxes. It has been of so convincing a nature tha perhaps it will promote that honesty in dealing with the people to which they are entitled but which they have not had.

FOR many years it has been a basic political belief that its inexpedient to increase taxes in an election year. Popular resentment has been taken for granted and the invariable disposition has been to avoid such action. When two weeks ago the President presented his defense program he took the typical politician's position on taxes. He evaded their unpleasant reality, urged that the thing to do was to get money now and the question of how to pay the bill could be taken up later. In other words, we were to borrow the defense billions and put off the question of taxes until after the election.

THAT was Mr. Roosevelt's unconcealed plan and it was acquiesced in by Congressional leaders who assumed with him that it would not do for the party in power to increase taxes just before the campaign. There, of course, were some who insisted that this was a dangerous policy and that it was far better to face the facts. Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia made a remarkably fine speech on these lines. Senator Tydings of Maryland strongly insisted on both taxes and economy as essential parts of any defense program, and various newspapers deplored the Presidential unwillingness even to touch the tax problem at this session.

BUT, the change in the Administration attitude did not occur until the White House secretariat discovered that many thousands of letters addressed to the president had been pouring in, not protesting against taxes but demanding taxes. Investigation showed that other thousands of the same kind, clearly spontaneous and unorganized, were being received by members of the House and Senate. It was an unprecedented demand of a people not to be relieved of taxes but to be taxed. Even after the volume of these letters had been called to his attention Mr. Roosevelt did not immediately change his position.

THE initiative came from Congress. A movement to introduce a tax bill along the lines urged by Senator Byrd—to wit, a ten per cent horizontal increase in income taxes and a ten per cent increase in all other internal revenue levies—got under way in the House. Senator Harrison, chairman of the Finance Committee, asked for a conference with the President and Mr. Morgenthau, expressed his belief the country wanted a tax increase and Congress wanted to enact one. Then—and not until then—did Mr. Roosevelt approve the plan to levy taxes to carry defense appropriations. Then—and not until then—did he abandon the idea that these billions could just be borrowed, the amount added to the debt and the question of paying taken up later. Now he is supporting the Doughton tax bill, but he literally has been prodded by the public on one side and Congress on the other.

IT has been a remarkable exhibition of a people leading rather than following. In this instance it is the President who follows and the people who lead. The perilous idea of borrowing billions without any

Claims New Invention Will Prevent Damage To Trees And Vegetables By Frost

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 4.—Frost, the enemy which often strikes without warning to lay waste to rich groves and vegetable fields, soon may meet its master, if the invention of a San Diegan bears out his claims.

Oliver P. Greenstreet is a watchmaker by trade, but for the past three years—since coming to San Diego from St. Louis for his health—time pieces have been neglected while his work-shop has been converted into a laboratory redolent with the aroma that ordinarily emanates from a food market.

The evidences of Greenstreet's apparently miracle-working solution are on all sides—shriveled, discolored fruits and vegetables which have not enjoyed its beneficial effects lying in stark contrast alongside sparkling, healthy oranges, apples, potatoes, grapefruit, quite as old but far more edible.

Purpose Of Solution

The letters patent which Greenstreet has just received describes the purpose of his solution as follows:

"To prevent freezing of branches, leaves, buds, blossoms, etc., of trees and vegetables by enveloping same in mist or fog of a liquid which will in this form protect the plant to a certain extent lowering temperatures and which will deposit on various parts of the plant to form a fluid coating having the characteristic of congealing at a certain low temperature point, to thus form a protective coating over the plant and thereby insulate same to a certain extent to prevent cells of the plant from freezing and rupturing."

And all this can be done, Greenstreet vows, for about 50 cents per tree per season, as compared with present smudge-pot costs which he says run as high as 50 cents per night for each tree.

Saw Smudge Pot Smoke

"When I came to California, one of the first things I noticed was the troublesome smoke from smudge pots during periods when frost threatened," he commented.

"Having tinkered with one invention or another most of my life, I decided to inquire into this problem."

The resultant product, brewed like a potion in a Shakespearian tragedy, contains petroleum oil, water, an emulsifier, glycerine or honey, powdered blood albumin spreader, and wood or denatured alcohol. The exact formula is Greenstreet's secret.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Once again a fleet bent on invasion is being assembled at the French coast Channel ports now occupied by the Germans. For Hitler is putting together a "mosquito fleet" — hundreds and hundreds of small vessels, motor boats, yachts, fishing-trawlers, anything and everything which can carry soldiers—and preparing for the day when he can launch them across the Channel at Dover and Folkestone.

Over them, the Germans declare, will roar not hundreds but thousands of bombers prepared to blast the British Navy out of existence, and German fighting planes, prepared to protect the German bombers against the Royal Air Force fighters. The Germans seem utterly confident in the destructive power of their aircraft as against any defense of sea-power. That, in effect, is what General Billy Mitchell preached with almost fanatic fervor seventeen years ago until he made such a nuisance of himself to the admirals that he was shouldered out of the service.

We have gone far enough along with this war to comprehend that most of the old conceptions have gone by the board. Mechanized artillery and troop transports and huge bombers have changed the rules. Perhaps in a few weeks we shall see if Hitler can succeed in what Napoleon dared not tackle.

Only the complete rout and ruin of the French fleet at Trafalgar saved England from invasion 135 years ago. But as a suggestion of what might have occurred if the Emperor had been able to land his veteran legions under the protection of Villeneuve's fleet, we can go back to a comic opera invasion of England which actually did take place in 1797, concerning which history is oddly uncommunicative.

Women saved England in that long-ago, as, indeed they might do again. On the twenty-second of February in that year, 1797, an Irish-American adventurer, named Colonel Tate, commanding a force of a few hundred mixed rapscallions, along with 1500 French soldiers, lent to him by, I think, the French General Hook, actually made a landing in Cardigan Bay, Wales. They met with practically no opposition, even though they had to scale a high and difficult cliff and haul their guns up and over it.

Their reception by the natives was even cordial, although there was a flurry of astonishment when the French flag was broken out. The Fishguard Fencibles were mustered out—can't you see it! A gallant spectacle that must have been—but there was little need to call upon their gallantry. The invaders had made themselves sick from eating too much half-cooked mutton and drinking too much port wine out of a wrecked ship on the coast.

There is a story that the invaders were frightened by a distant view of the stalwart women of that region of Cardigan, Wales, wearing red cloaks, and took to their French heels. At any rate, they were easy victims when the British soldiery, a little late as usual—but this time not too late with too little—came on the field and met them. According to the esteemed New York Sun, if you go to Brestgarn today and hand over six pence, you can see the bullet-hole made by one of these filibustering rascals in a grandfather's clock.

Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown of empire these days. Japan looks South, as well as to the East and West. Dutch Malaysia, stretching more than 3,000 miles from Sumatra to Netherlands New Guinea, is a fat patridge and this is the open season for bagging colonies. Malaysia is fabulously rich in rubber, oil, rice, sugar and coffee.

The Netherlands always has relied on the stability of the British Empire. It has been quite untroubled in bringing through its vast rich colonial estate, sixty times larger than the homeland. But now there are seismic shocks in the whole structure of empire all over the world. It would appear that the owners and operators of old, established empires have reason for unrest.

The story persists that allied Germany and Japan are going ahead with that canal, to be cut through the Isthmus of Kra, only forty miles across low swamp land, north of Siam. That would greatly shorten Japan's route both to India and to Australia and would make Britain's mighty Singapore just a whistling post.

So far, Italy is a joker wild in the empire deck, but her overt doings, regardless of back-stage diplomancy, put her in the line-up which assails the British empire. All this appears against the historic backdrop of Pan-Asia, which takes on sharper outlines every day.

As Japan openly becomes an authoritarian state, Premier Konoye, a vigorous proponent of the Pan-Asiatic doctrine for many years, will rule 650,000,000 persons, if China goes down the slide, as it appears to be doing. And he will gain on the western border of China more than 2,000 miles of Indian border territory, in acquiring Sin-Kiang province and Tibet.

India has been comfortably buttressed by archaic China and the hordes of Islam to the north. That's all past and done with now. There is a vast world flux and ferment and what is going to happen is anybody's bet. We hope for the best, but we aren't either firemen or policemen. And we aren't in the empire business.

FARM FAMILY CLOTHING BUDGET

Clothing expenses take a smaller share of the money spent for living by farm families than it does for those in cities, the United States Bureau of Home Economics reports knowledge of where the money is to come from has been sidetracked by popular sentiment manifested through polls and letters. We are going to have a tax bill because the public has sense enough to know that it is an essential part of defense and that its omission might be calamitous. Of course, increased taxes should be coupled with reduced expenditures, but for that Presidential support would really have to be forced.

YESTERDAY Senator Byrd introduced a resolution for a ten per cent reduction in all Governmental expenditures, including salaries of Senators and Representatives, exempting only national defense and and debt interest. Two years ago he got 28 votes for an identical resolution in the Senate. There is a prospect today that, even without Mr. Roosevelt's support, it can be passed. It is the sort of action to which there would be a great public response. It would be evidence of the ability of the United States to measure up to an emergency and it would demonstrate a capacity for the kind of self discipline indispensable to effective national effort.

MORE than that—it would be clear warning to the world that when America says she is going to get herself in shape, she means what she says. More than that—if an economy such as Senator Byrd proposes should be adopted, it would raise their representatives in the esteem of the people and reconcile them to the even heavier taxes bound to come. The difficulty is that Mr. Roosevelt has opposed consistently every effort to cut down. Still, a sufficient public sentiment may change him again. Pressure of one sort has made him abandon the plan of borrowing without taxes. Pressure of another sort forced him to modify his plan to put the industrialists recently brought to Washington under Mr. Harry Hopkins. Perhaps pressure can bring him to the point of favoring vital economy in a great crisis.

Says It's No Fun Being Ex-Wife Of Clark Gable

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, June 4.—Being the former wife of Clark Gable, screen idol, is a "tough load to carry," complained Miss Josephine Dillon, Hollywood dramatic coach.

"That's because everyone considers me something of a curiosity," she explains. Miss Dillon—she prefers to be known as Josephine Dillon, although her maiden name was not restored during her divorce action—stopped off in St. Louis on her way to Christian College, school for girls at Columbia, Mo., to initiate courses in such things as radio work, dramatics, television and charm.

Being known as Gable's former wife is no fun, Miss Dillon asserted. "Women are the worst offenders. They ask me such preposterous questions as to what he eats, and whether he is really the great lover off the screen as well as on it. It is all very trying.

"All I would like to say about Clark is this: 'He is a fine person, and a regular fellow. He loves simple things, and is happiest with his dogs, his books, his hunting, and of course, Carole, who is quite all right on her own account. (Carole is Carole Lombard, Clark's present wife.)

"In the years we were together from 1923 until 1931, I taught Clark the fundamentals of acting, and today I believe he is an excellent actor—much better than he is given credit for being. But, Hollywood demands nothing of Clark except that he be his masculine self."

STREAMLINERS CLUB PLANS ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Dennis Sturdevant, of Albert street, received the Streamliners club in her home Monday evening for a business and social time combined, with the main objective, being the completion of their third anniversary plans.

As a medium of celebrating, the club will gather for a dinner party on Monday, June 17, at a suburban tea room. Also, birthdays of two of the membership will be honored on this date.

Cards were in play afterwards with Miss Thelma Kerber, Mrs. Margaret Anderson and Miss Elizabeth Smith winning the honor score trophies. Lunch was served at the close, the hostess being aided by Mrs. Margaret Anderson with the tasty menu.

Junior Bible Class

Junior Bible class members of the Peoples Mission on Sampson street, met recently, with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hetrick on Rebecca street. After routine business was completed, a social time was enjoyed. Lunch was served by the hostess at a suitable hour, with Mrs. Clarence Thompson, assisting. Rev. W. Gamble is pastor of the Mission.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held Friday, June 28, which will be in the nature of a picnic outing, at the William Boyles residence on English avenue.

Saturday of this week however, the membership will be entertained at a spaghetti supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huff on English avenue.

Round-Up Club

Mrs. Grace Sorto and her committee entertained members of the Round-Up club, Monday evening in their club rooms, South Jefferson street. Mrs. Helen Maciariello took charge later.

Informal diversions were enjoyed, with contests. The club token was captured by Mrs. William Ross.

A father's day party has been planned for June 16, with husbands as special guests. Mrs. Clotilda Ross is chairlady of the event to be held at the Casa Savoia hall.

Dainty refreshments were served to the group later in the evening. Mrs. Guy Natale was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held on June 17, with Mrs. Anna Ross and her committee in charge.

F. H. C. Class

Members of the F. H. C. class of the First Congregational church will meet Thursday evening, with Mrs. Warren Johnson of Lutton street.

Martha Lodge

Martha Lodge No. 10 will hold their regular meeting, Tuesday evening, in the First Congregational church.

WIENERFEST ENJOYED BY CLASS MEMBERS

Opening the outdoor social season Monday night the Young Married Peoples Bible class of the Epworth Methodist church enjoyed a wienerfest at the Weingartner camp on the Slippery Rock Creek. Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barber and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Browning.

L. M. S. Class

L. M. S. Bible class members of the Central Presbyterian church were entertained Monday evening by the Misses Eleanor and Margaret Lowery in the residence of their sister, Mrs. Bernard Flynn, Oakwood avenue.

Preceding the meeting, the girls went in a group to visit Laura M. Stevenson in her home on the New Bedford road, who is the originator of the class.

Mrs. Walter Curry had charge of the religious period and used "Peace" for her theme. An informal social period ensued and refreshments were served by the three hostesses.

July 1, members will meet for a picnic gathering at the home of Mrs. William McCombs, Mt. Jackson road. Those in charge of the outing are Eleanor Lowery, Margaret Moser, Mrs. Earl Leslie, Mrs. William McCombs and Mrs. Walter Curry.

Co-Hostesses To T. A. T.

Mrs. Ray Black and Mrs. William Mates were co-hostesses Monday evening to members of the T. A. T. club, when they entertained informally at a popular tea room downtown, at their regular bi-weekly event.

Cards were in play as the pastime, with honor prizes falling to Mrs. Ray Hutzler, Mrs. Thomas Sanfilippo, Mrs. O. Dibbley and Miss Carrie Sanfilippo. Lunch was served at the close.

On June 13, Mrs. O. Dibbley and Mrs. Hal Roper will be hostesses at a similar party.

Adams Street Unit

Members of the Adams street unit, Epworth Methodist church, were entertained at a tea in the home of Mrs. Grace Chain, Adams street, recently.

Election of officers took place with the following results: leader, Mrs. Laura Miller; assistant, Mrs. Hannah Piper; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Jones; assistant secretary, Mrs. Hester Day.

Women's Relief Corps

Women's Relief Corps, Lewis E. Simon, No. 11, will meet in regular session in Modern Woodman Hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Initiation of new members will take place, with all officers attired in the traditional white. Following, a social will be featured for members and friends. Mrs. Edna Ricer is general chairman in charge of the entertainment.

James Dennis, 227 West Grant street and De Graff E. Robinson, 205 East Grant street, reportedly operated autos which collided shortly afternoon Monday at Shaw and East streets. Dennis said he did not stop but proceeded slowly from Shaw street into East street and Robinson was driving north on East street and the accident occurred.

A steel chair was reportedly stolen from the porch of the Foster residence 321 East North street and a bicycle was reported to have been stolen from the Ferver home, 203 Lincoln avenue, police stated today.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

To Discuss Street Car Problem Tonight

Seventh Ward Civic Club And South Side Board Of Trade Plan Joint Meeting

In order to further discuss the street car problem in the south side and Mahoningtown, a joint session for members of the South Side Board of Trade and the Seventh Ward Civic club, has been scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock.

It is hoped that some plan may be worked out whereby the street cars, now in operation, may be replaced by new buses in the very near future.

Make Trip To Hunting Camp

Five district hunters made the first trip to their hunting camp, Camp Syling, near Newmansville, Pa., since the close of the hunting season.

The trip was made during the week end. Those in the party included: I. D. Wagner, Blaine Bumbaugh, Howard Cox, Ed Syling and George Horchler, Sr.

The party reported sighting three young deer near the camp. All vegetation in that district is just beginning to come to life, being rather slow this season.

ENGINE IN WARD

The old Knox fire engine that the city proposes to sell is stored in the Seventh Ward Fire Station. The old engine has been out of service several years and during that time has been parked in the station here.

TO PAINT BRIDGE

Plans have been made to paint the Willow Grove bridge. A preliminary coat of paint has been placed on the bridge, by workmen, covering the rust spots and getting the surface ready for paint.

Army Man Finds The News As Tie Between Hometown

Anthony S. Cappalina finds the New Castle News an old friend and a tie between his home town, and a very welcome item in his daily mail at the United States Army Station at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

Cappalina states that although Hawaii is a wonderful place, there is no place like New Castle. The News keeps the former local boy in constant contact with the land he left behind.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Nearly every field in the district is dotted with persons hard at work making garden. At the city garden plots near the city disposal plant, about 20 persons were at work Monday afternoon.

The flood wall that was built recently along the road embankment leading to the city disposal plant is quite attractive. The wall was made of large hewn stones.

Spirea bushes in the district seem to be more beautiful this year than they have been for several seasons. Probably the prolonged wet weathed has had something to do with these flowering shrubs.

Several Mahoningtown city-farmers report that their tomatoe plants are now well on the way. Several in the ward strive each year to produce the first ripe tomato in their garden.

Spring flowers are at the height of their beauty at the present time. There are many beautiful flower beds located at homes in the ward, observation reveals.

It won't be long now if this fine weather holds, before the Mahoningtown people will begin to migrate to Cottage Grove. About a dozen families from here spend the summer months at this camping site.

House painting seems to be in full swing here at the present time. At least 10 or 12 homes are being painted now.

Mahoning Church In League Games

Mahoning Methodist church ball team officially opens the season this week with two games, both city church league games.

First league game for this team was played Monday evening, with the St. John's church team.

Thursday evening at the Clayton street field, the Mahoning boys will meet the Croton Methodist church team, with the game scheduled to get under way at 6 o'clock.

Baling Paper This Afternoon

Members of the Seventh Ward Civic club are at Horchler's warehouse on North Cedar street, this afternoon for the purpose of baling paper and preparing it for the market.

Another general collection day for Mahoningtown will be held within a short time, and any person having old paper and magazines should save them for the group.

LIBERTY GIRLS WIN FIRST BALL GAME

Liberty Star Girls softball team won the first game of the season by defeating the Arena girls team, at the Liberty street field by a score of 19-0.

Florence Izzo and Helen Mauroski were the home run stars for the winning team. Irene Domenick pitched a wonderful game for the winners, permitting only three hits and making 13 strike outs. In addition to her good pitching, Miss Domenick made two hits one being a triple.

The Liberty Girls will play the West Pittsburg girls at West Pittsburg, Wednesday evening.

NEAR COMPLETION

Workmen are near completion in the razing job at the old Wettich block, corner North Liberty street and Wabash avenue. Monday afternoon all that remained of the building was the outside walls.

GROUP WILL MEET

Ladies Auxiliary to the O. R. C. will meet Thursday in the Legion Home for their regular period. At noon, a tureen dinner will be served and the meeting will follow at 2:00.

SODALITY TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Immaculate Conception Sodality, Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the auditorium of St. Lucy's church, President Rose DeGennaro announced today.

BEREAN CLASS

Announcement was made today that the Berean class of the Madison Avenue Christian church, will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Frank Rhinehart, West Madison avenue.

MAGHI CLUB TONIGHT

Members of the Mahgi club will meet at the home of Dorothy Hackett, 110 West Madison avenue, tonight.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Fortunate is the bald man who looks at life philosophically.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

TWO-YEAR-OLDS

Continuing from where we left off yesterday:

At two years of age the child should be completely trained in his elimination habits. He can wash his hands and get himself a drink of water. He is feeding himself competently by them—or he should be. His attempts to dress and undress unaided are fairly successful, especially if the clothes chosen for him are sensibly designed.

Your average two-year-old has quite a lot of experience by now, and so he can be trusted alone in reasonably safe places; he knows enough to avoid danger. He will repeat the basic outlines of favorite nursery stories that mother and father have been telling him and he recognizes the pictures in his story book and tries to explain them. He recognizes and names a few colors. He tries to relate experiences to his family and wants to take his mother to see things that catch his fancy. He knows his full name and can repeat it.

By the age of two, your child is conscious of a wide, wide world around him and now thinks of other things besides himself. The pet dog becomes a real creature with paws and tail and mouth and eyes, whereas formerly it was just something to play with. The youngster begins to wonder about the dog, why it can't talk, or walk on two legs—the "why" stage is just beginning.

This curiosity and interest in outside things makes the child an incessant explorer. One frequent symptom at this stage is that the child will "run away," and this naturally distresses many mothers and fathers. Actually, the child is only trying to see what is outside his own back yard. Some children of this age become almost incurable wanderers and must be watched all the time. This thirst for drinking in the sights of the outside world has one cure—satisfy the curosity by taking the child on frequent excursions as often as possible. Take him on walks, take him downtown, take him on picnics.

This urge to explore makes the child reckless in his activities. He never seems satisfied for long in one place or at one game and the parents often begin to wonder whether this is a character trait coming out and if he will always be like that. Well, parents shouldn't worry about this indication, and they are foolish to try and break the child's naturally growing curiosity by making him stick to one thing and stay in one place.

The two-year-old is interested in every subject his mind is capable of understanding and he wants to know all about each. He will listen with interest to explanations he can understand. But at this stage, he cannot be forced in his learning, so parents must keep the scope of their teaching and explanations within the boundaries of the child's understanding.

The first questions a child asks are for names and explanations of things. As he picks up a larger vocabulary, the more questions he is able to ask, and so the more he can learn. I told you last week how important it is to answer these questions, no matter how foolish they may sound, simply and seriously instead of turning the questions aside, or laughing at him.

Tomorrow we will follow the growing child further.

She is a transfer from Allegeheny College, and is member of Phi Kappa Phi, scolastic and activity honorary.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

HARRISBURG, June 4.—Pennsylvania Democratic leaders all appear to be convinced that President Roosevelt will run for a third term. . . . All the talk around the party's state headquarters is that Roosevelt will accept the nomination which will be tendered him by the Democratic national convention. . . . The increasingly serious war situation is believed to have considerably enhanced the chances of his running again.

Democrats admit they face a tough job in Pennsylvania of winning the fall election if Roosevelt does not run. . . . Their hopes of success lie centered chiefly in him. . . . They do not admit, however, that they cannot win without Roosevelt. . . . They just say his candidacy would make their task easier.

Pennsylvania Republicans are also intensely interested in whether Roosevelt is a presidential candidate. . . . G. O. P. leaders admit in private that if the president runs again Pennsylvania can be classed as one of the doubtful states. . . . If he does not run, Pennsylvania is sure to go Republican, they add.

Opposition has cropped up to Senator Joseph F. Guffey's choice for judge of the newly-created federal court in the Eastern Pennsylvania district. . . . Guffey's nomination, U. S. Attorney J. Cullen Ganey, of Bethlehem, is being opposed, it is said, by Solicitor General Francis Biddle who is said to favor Shippen Lewis of Philadelphia. . . . If Guffey's selection is approved by the president, the senator is reported ready to back State Senator Harry Shapiro of Philadelphia for U. S. Attorney to succeed Ganey.

Rejection of Guffey's choice would provide the third setback of the kind for the junior senator from Pennsylvania who is a candidate for reelection. . . . Earlier the president turned thumbs down on Judge M. A. Musmanno, Pittsburgh, and Judge John H. McCann, of Cambria County, for the last two vacancies on the federal bench in Pennsylvania.

Learning to become an aviation mechanic in Uncle Sam's aviation corps is hard work. . . . At the state capital 86 aviation mechanic students are being trained under the supervision of the national youth administration as part of the president's defense program. . . . It appears that good housekeeping is an important element of that training. . . . Students must rise at 5:45 a. m. and include among their household chores such duties as peeling potatoes and cleaning house. . . . The students get $30 a month from the government of which $20 is returned to the NYA for room and board.

CAMP EAST BROOK WILL OPEN SOON

Varied Activities Planned For Camp Periods; Girls Registering At Y. W. C. A.

Instead of going miles away for a good suntan, local girls will again have the opportunity of obtaining one at the Y. W. C. A. camp, East Brook, this summer.

Registration for camp is now taking place at the "Y" when each girl receives a medical blank to be filled out by the family physician. This protects every camper and places important emphasis on health. A registered nurse will be at the camp at all times, not only to care for cuts, bruises and the like, but to help plan menus in order that the meals will be well balanced. Medical cards are to be returned to the "Y" one week prior to camp entrance.

Periods at the camp this year are as follows: Senior Girl Reserves, June 17-21; first period, 8 to 12 years, June 24-July 5; second period, 9 to 13 years, July 8-19; third period, 12 to 18 years, July 22-August 2.

Activities at the camp include volley ball, mush ball, a great favorite with interesting series between campers and counsellors, blondes and brunettes, hikes, swimming twice a day with instruction in the morning and a plunge period in the afternoon in the lovely cement pool, stunt night when all kinds of talent comes to the front, camp fires (inside in case of rain in the beautiful fireplaces of the dining room or cottage) with singing by firelight or camp stories by moonlight, craft shop, library books with books ranging from "Heidi" for the youngsters to books for the most sophisticated of senior campers, nature study, dramatics and music. A new feature this year will be photography, with cameras being made for as little as ten cents.

There is a camp store which provides, among other things, candy (limited to three cents a day), films, stationery and craft materials. Well balanced, well cooked meals are served to the campers three times a day with milk and graham crackers taking the spotlight as a bedtime snack.

Agencies that have camps believe that their camps are managed according to ideals of modern camp management. High standards are required of counsellors. The time has passed when an attractive young lady with social position but little training may be a counsellor. Today, a counsellor must be not only efficient in her skill but she must be able to grasp opportunities for developing a fine relationship between adult and child. In the present time, she must know, too, the principles of democratic living and be able to help in developing in the campers, attitudes of helpfulness and responsibility for the welfare of camp and community.

The Y. W. C. A. will present a radio program Wednesday, June 5, from 6:15 to 6:30, in behalf of their camp.

CHEWTON

CLASS MEETING

Class No. 3 of the Chewton Christian Sunday school met at the home of Mrs. John Gafney on Friday evening for their regular monthly business meeting, and had 15 members participating. A business meeting was conducted by the vice president, Mrs. Harry Kelly, and plans were made for the next meeting. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and social chat. At an appropriate hour a delicious lunch was served by a committee.

LADIES AID WILL MEET

The Ladies Aid Society of the Chewton Christian church will hold an all-day meeting in the basement of the church on Thursday, June 6.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB MEETING

Members of the Cosmopolitan Club were entertained at a prettily appointed 6 o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. Nellie E. Summers Thursday evening with covers laid for 20 guests. The Fiesta color scheme was carried throughout the menu and table decorations. Each guest received a dainty favor. Mrs. Marie Merriman, president of the club, presented the hostess with a lovely gift in honor of her birthday. Later a theatre party was enjoyed by the group.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sylvia Craven, June 20, at which time plans will be discussed for the annual picnic.

NEUROTICS ARE GOOD WORKERS

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 4—Don't hesitate to hire neurotics, advises Clifford R. Adams, of the Psycho-Educational Clinic at the Pennsylvania State college.

Neurotic persons recently tested by Adams proved to be as good workers as stable people, as well as more co-operative, both over the telephone and in person.

"It was easier to make appointments with them, and they were more eager to please," he stated.

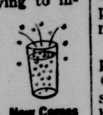
HOSPITAL TESTS REVEAL GREAT DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION

At last—here's an ideal, "daily" treatment for constipation with its headaches, mental dullness, fatigue and sallow skin.

Tests in a world-famous hospital have proved a "little daily dose" of Kruschen (world-famous formula, now at last obtainable in pleasant tasting "bubbling" form) actually produces nature's own gentle, pleasant, "daily" bowel movements by keeping the waste matter in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel.

Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Also acts as a mild Antacid and Kidney Stimulant. Gives you MORE for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for WEEKS. Over 245,000,000 jars have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen MUST be good—it MUST do the work! Made in U. S. A.



Now Comes in Pleasant Tasting "Bubbling" Form!

Forming "Keep Us Out Of War" Bloc In Senate

Senator Clark Leads Movement

Oppose United States Again Being Dragged Into European War

HALT EMERGENCY POWER EXTENSIONS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A Democratic "keep us out of war" bloc is being formed in the senate today to oppose American involvement in the European holocaust.

The bloc, being organized under the leadership of Sen. Bennett Clark (Mo.), may have far-reaching effect on the 1940 presidential election. Its members are pledged to do everything within their power to keep the United States out of Europe's war, even to the extent of carrying their campaign into the coming presidential contest.

Organization of the bloc was confirmed by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (Mont.), a dark-horse possibility for the Democratic presidential nomination in event President Roosevelt does not seek a third term. Asked whether he was joining the bloc, Wheeler said:

Calls Meeting

"Yes. Senator Clark is calling a meeting of Democratic senators, who oppose the United States being again dragged into Europe's wars. I think it is high time such a meeting was called.

"Some of us Democrats feel that congress should grant no more emergency war powers to the president. We feel, if there is an emergency, then congress ought to stay in continuous session and pass upon each emergency as it arises, just as it is our duty under the constitution of the United States.

"All of us are in favor of building up our national defense but we can't build up our national defense if at the same time we give our planes and warships to the Allies.

"We feel it is our duty to do everything possible to keep our country out of war and to prevent the enactment of anything that will tend to drag our country into war."

LIONS APPRECIATIVE

The News Company,
North Mercer St.,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

The New Castle Lions Club wishes to express its appreciation and gratitude to the many individuals and organiaztions that assisted in the Arts and Crafts Exhibit held last week.

We wish to thank particularly the following for their help: The New Castle News, for the publicity given the Exhibit; the Department of Public Assistance, for the help in preparing the room for the display; the volunteer workers of the National Youth Administration, who were in attendance at the Exhibit during the afternoons; Station WKST, for radio publicity; Pennsylvania Power Company, for assistance in the preparation of the display; the Cathedral Association, for the loan of furniture; the Greater New Castle Association, for receiving entry blanks from exhibitors; and we wish to thank particularly M. J. Donnelly, the owner of the room in which the Exhibit was held, for his kind permission to use this space for the Exhibit.

We appreciate the opportunity to express our gratitude publicly to these people and organizations who helped to make the Exhibit a success.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

Amelia Sirrianni Honored At Shower

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—Miss Amelia Sirrianni, a bride-elect of June was honored at a lovely party, Monday evening, held by members of The Little Flower club of the Blessed Virgin Mary church, in the social rooms of the church. On Thursday, June 6, Miss Sirrianni will become the bride of Salvatore Rock, of Sharon in an elaborate wedding to be performed at the church.

Guests and members numbering 21 attended. A lovely gift, a statue of St. Theresa, was presented to the honoree by Miss Rose DeMauro, in behalf of all club members.

A social period ensued with games, cards and chinese checkers being enjoyed by the group.

Later, a delicious lunch was served at long tables, with clever favors marking each place, and tall candles adorning the tables. Those who aided in the serving were: Elodia Barberio, Pearl Rocco, Letha Squicquero, Yolando Minnocci and Margaret Bianco.

MEMORIAL COMMITTEE

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4—The final meeting of the Memorial Day committee was held last night in the city building with chairman William Duncan in charge. All business was finished and it was announced that the speakers committee for next year would be composed of the commanders of the V. F. W. Post, Randolph Post and Sons of Union Veterans.

Standard Bearers Gather At Church

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4—At a prettily appointed blue and white table members of the Standard Bearers Missionary Society of the Wurtemburg Methodist church last night partook of a sumptuous tureen dinner, featuring the June session.

Mrs. Eric Osthling and Misses Geraldine Hoover, Louise McConahy and Burnzetta Wimer were in charge of the arrangements and also led the discussion period. Miss Naomi Ford was received into the society as a new member.

Devotions were lead by Burnzetta Wimer after which Miss Pauline Boots was in charge of the business with plans being made to send girls to the summer conference at Kiski.

For the next meeting on Monday July 1, Miss Mary Johnson, Miss Helen Stewart and Miss Donna Clyde will be in charge.

District President Is Guest Of V. F. W.

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4 — Mrs. Evelyn Woods, district president, and Mrs. Lillian Falls, president of the New Castle unit, were special guests of the V. F. W. Auxiliary at their regular meeting last evening in the Fourth street V. F. W. hall.

Mrs. N. E. Lloyd was in charge with plans being made to take part in the flag day celebration on Friday, June 14.

A social hour followed with tempting refreshments being served under the direction of Mrs. Tice Patterson.

Monday, June 17, marks the date of the next meeting.

Ellport Council Meets On Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—Last evening at the June meeting of the Ellport boro council, a group of residents attended protesting the inadequate sewage disposal condition of the boro.

It was agreed to have a state health representative attend a public meeting in the boro on Saturday, June 15, to explain how the condition can be remedied.

A project for the completion of the hard surfacing of Deemer avenue has been submitted and the work is expected to be completed in the near future. Routine matters occupied the rest of the meeting.

Ellport Red Sox Top Moose 13-3

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—Last night at Ewing Park, the Ellport Red Sox overwhelmed the Moose by a 13 to 3 count to gain the first Legion Junior league victory.

The Red Sox combined three walks, and two singles to gain a 4-0 lead in the first inning and from that point were never headed. They reached, Brandes, Moose relief hurler, for ten safeties to add two markers in the third, three in the fourth and four in the fifth.

Meanwhile Wright fanned eight, and limited the Moose nine to three scattered single and three unearned runs. Jance's three bagger was the game's feature blow.

Tomorrow afternoon the All Stars play at East Palestine and on Saturday afternoon will go to Saxonburg.

Explosives Is Big Industry

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 4—Approximately $10,000,000 worth of of black and smokeless powder, dynamite, nitroglycerin and other explosives are produced yearly in Pennsylvania, which leads the nation in this production, the state planning board reported.

The industry, represented in the state by 19 manufacturers, employs approximately 1800 persons and has an annual payroll of $2,000,000.

Admitting that modern warfare could not take place wtihout explosives, it was pointed out at the same time that industry would be seriously crippled if denied its use. Engineering feats, such as tunnel building, dredging river channels, and blasting for roads, would be an impossibility, said the board.

And industrial operations such as mining, quarrying, oil well drilling and building industry would be unheard of.

The board survey discloses Pennsylvania's explosives industry to be concentrated in three areas, largest of which is the anthracite region, comprising the three coal-producing counties of Schuylkill, Luzerne and Lackawanna, and the neighboring county of Lehigh. The five explosives' manufacturers here located account for 65 per cent of all the employes credited in the state to the industry.

Second most important area is the western Pennsylvania industrial valleys region, including Westmoreland, Lawrence, Fayette and Allegheny counties, and 27 per cent of all employes. The other area is the oil-producing region: McKean, Warren, Venango and Crawford counties, and adjoining Cameron county. The only plant located outside these three areas is a medium-size establishment in Blair county.

Four Summer Camps Are Available Here For Boys And Girls

When the streets turn to bake ovens and the thermometer is up in the high nineties, the city is no place for boys and girls. What they need is plenty of space to run, plenty of trees for shade and a stream in which to cool off. They should be out where they can breathe pure air, soak up a lot of sunshine and in general act like a lot of colts.

Comparatively few people have camps of their own but in Lawrence county there are camps operated by the Y.M. and Y.W.C.A., and the Boy and Girl Scouts that provide the ideal places for youngsters in the summer months. The total capacity of the four camps operated is 6308 weeks of boy and girl camp life; and the total time of the camps is nineteen weeks.

Two On Slippery Rock

Two of the camps, those operated by the Y.M.C.A. and the Boy Scouts are located on picturesque Slippery Rock Creek. The one operated by the Y.W.C.A. is located at East Brook.

Camp Phillips, the camp of the Boy Scouts has accommodations for 100 boys and operates for five weeks every summer. Camp Fred L. Rentz, the Y.M.C.A. camp has capacity for 72 boys and is operated for five weeks each summer. Camp East Brook, the Y.W.C.A. camp has capacity for 60 girls and operates for seven weeks and the Girl Scout Camp has capacity for 100 girls and operates for two weeks.

There's much more reason for sending a boy or girl to camp than merely vacationing. It gets the youngsters close to nature, gives them real outdoor life under supervision, teaches them the secrets of the woods, self reliance, puts them more or less "on their own."

Every boy and girl needs a lot of outdoor life in the summer for health reasons. Its the time to store up vitamins for the winter and not getting them out of a bottle.

There are many boys and girls in the city who have never been to a summer camp. Their economic status is such that no provision for such expense can be made. In past years a number of civic organizations and individuals have paid the cost of sending some of these boys and girls to camp. Its a grand idea, an investment in futures that returns handsome dividends in the form of satisfaction alone.

This summer again the organizations operating the camps are hoping to get the co-operation of organized groups and individuals who will underwrite an underprivileged boy or girl. It would be a fine thing if every one of the bunks in the four camps were filled this summer. It would mean 6308 camper-weeks of fun for a lot of kids.

If you have read this far you may be interested in knowing how you could aid in sending one or more youngsters to camp. Its easy. Reach for your telephone and call the office of any one of the four agencies. They will be glad to explain what a simple procedure it is. And you'll get most of the fun out of doing it.

Special Instruction In Water Safety

Enrolees From State CCC Camps To Receive Swimming Lessons

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, June 4—Two enrollees from each of Pennsylvania's 49 CCC camps will receive special instruction this summer in swimming and water safety and will subsequently conduct swimming and water training in their own camps.

This is part of a program just announced by James J. McEntee, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps. The 98 Pennsylvania youths selected for these courses will be trained at a special training school to be set up in the Pennsylvania area on a date to be later determined. At this school, the 98 will qualify for Red Cross Senior Life Saving Certificates and will then return to their camps and instruct other enrollees.

Legislate Against Foreign-Made-Flags

Bill Is Proposed Which Would Limit Manufacture To American Concerns

Through the interest of Sidney Teller of Pittsburgh, director of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, a bill has been introduced into congress by Representative Herman P. Eberharter of Pittsburgh, making it unlawful to import into the United States any United States flag or national emblem.

Mr. Teller's interest in the matter resulted from his finding in a New York City store, small U. S. flags, upon which were stamped across the face, "Made in Japan", defacing the flag.

A national flag code committee, representing 112 patriotic and fraternal organizations, has asked that state legislatures enact legislation which would prevent the United States flag and other government insignia from being shown contempt and humiliation by being placed upon paper napkins and similar materials designed to be used and thrown away.

AROUND CITY HALL

Because of a reported decision handed down in United States district court, National Surety company vs. City of Allentown, City Controller S. L. Lockley has recommended to council that an effort be made to secure a return of a portion of the money paid during the past several years for the city treasurer's bond. In effect, the decision, according to Lockley, said a fair charge for a bond should be $10 for each thousand dollars of the bond provided and that the cost should not be based on the amount of the tax duplicate. In other words, the tax duplicate should have nothing to do with the cost of a bond. The city treasurer here usually has given a bond for $30,000. This bond if the decision is followed would cost the city $300, a year. The city, under the system now in vogue here, has been paying about $2,000, hence if the new plan could be carried out the city would save approximately $1,700, a year, Lockley explained. The council proposes to study the recommendation.

Twenty-One Year Terms For Judges To Be Requested

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 4—Twenty-one year terms for all judges of the state's appellate courts will be asked by the Pennsylvania Bar Association in a recommendation to be submintted to its annual convention at Bradford June 19-21. The recommendation was drawn up by the association's committee on civil law, which drafted a constitutional amendment to be submitted to the 1941 legislature.

Members of the state supreme court hold office for 21 years, but judges of the superior court serve 10 year terms.

"The 21 year term would do much to remove the superior court from the realm of politics," the bar committee stated. "It will also insure the commonwealth against loss of services, at the end of 10 years, of trained appellate judges.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved for Pennsylvania Man

Wm. Bollinger, Veteran Railroad Employee, After Enduring Painful Suffering, Tells of His Remarkable Experience with RUX Compound.

When a person suffers the agony of Rheumatic Pain attacks and then finds relief, it is a "grand and glorious" feeling, according to Wm. Bollinger, well-known Beaver Falls Railroad employee. After many discouraging efforts with the usual remedies, Mr. Bollinger finally found the relief he sought in RUX Compound, a new medicine to the people of this vicinity.

"I am not at all backward about telling anybody what a wonderful medicine RUX Compound is," states Mr. Bollinger. "Why? Before taking RUX, the pains would shoot up my legs so that I did not feel like walking. (The pains were mostly in my right leg). But RUX gave me such quick relief that I want everybody to know about it. Of several medicines I tried, I find RUX to be the one that really gives me relief as it was advertised. A friend went with me to the drug store in Beaver Falls, where I told the clerk about the sharp, shooting pains I was suffering and said I wanted to try RUX Compound, which I did. I am certainly glad I found out about RUX Compound, for it certainly brings me relief from these pains so I feel like getting around and attending to my work."

Mr. Bollinger has for 12 years been employed as car inspector by the Pittsburgh and Erie Railroad. He is a member of the American Legion Post of Beaver Falls, and a resident of that city for many years. His experience is typical of those of thousands of people all over the country who have had the opportunity to try RUX Compound for relief of their Rheumatic, Neuritic, or Neuralgic Pain attacks. Sufferers who have been disappointed with so many other relief methods marvel at the pleasant manner in which RUX Compound acts to give speedy, agreeable relief.

If you suffer Rheumatic, Neuritic, or Neuralgic Pain attacks, don't miss giving RUX a trial. This is so easy to do. RUX comes in three economical sizes for your convenience. Recommended and sold by Pay Less Drug Store. Take a tip from those who have tried it, and ask the druggist for a bottle of RUX Compound today.

Milnar Wins His Seventh Of Year

Southpaw May Help Feller Pitch Cleveland Into 1940 Pennant

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 4.—If the old saw that any team with two 20-game pitchers wins the pennant holds good this season, Alva Bradley, owner of the Cleveland Indians, today might just as well place his order for a flag pole on which to tack the 1940 American League banner.

In addition to Bob Feller, considered a sure-shot to cop 20 or more triumphs, the Indians now boast of Al Milnar, a southpaw who yesterday registered his seventh victory against one loss. Feller's record to date is eight wins and two defeats.

Milner Impressive

Milnar, who has looked impressive in every start this year, was at his best in shutting out the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 0, on seven scattered hits yesterday. Ray Mack, rookie second sacker, helped hoist the tribe to within a game of the league-leading Boston Red Sox by collecting three hits, including his fourth home run of the year.

Although outhit, 14 to 10, the Chicago White Sox sluggers operated better with men on bases to upset the Red Sox, 7 to 4. Bill Dietrich was the winning pitcher, although he had to be rescued by Clint Brown, who was appearing for the 16th time this season in the role of a fireman.

Yanks Upset Browns

At the same time, the New York Yankees won their fourth straight contest from the St. Louis Browns, 7 to 1, to tighten further the race in the first division of the junior circuit. Detroit, in third place, lost ground to both the Indians and Yanks by dropping a 9 to 3 decision to the Washington Senators.

In the National League, the standings of the clubs remained almost stationary. The league-leading Cincinnati Reds maintained their two-game advantage over the Brooklyn Dodgers by defeating the Boston Bees, 3 to 2. Paul Derringer, after getting away to a shaky first inning start when the Bees scored their only runs, settled down to gain his sixth triumph.

Dodgers Top Cubs

Meanwhile, the Brooklyn Dodgers, handicapped by injuries, managed to eke out a 3 to 2 victory over the Chicago Cubs. It was the third time in two days that the Dodgers have taken the measure of the Cubs.

Tough luck continued to hound the Pittsburgh Pirates, who dropped a 4 to 3 decision to the New York Giants. Joe Bowman, pinch-hitting for Danny MacFayden in the ninth, hit what appeared to be a tying home run inside the park, but tripped rounding third base and was tagged out. Harry Danning continued his heavy-hitting for the Giants, collecting three safeties, including a homer.

Sports World Ramblings

Local chip shots—Several outstanding golf feats were recorded over the week-end. Walt Vogan, touring Castle Hills with Fred Potosky, Del Michaels and Billy Williams, knocked off a double eagle on the 18th hole. After a long drive on the 480 yard dog-leg, Vogan picked up his spoon and fired. The ball's flight ended in the cup. . . .

Not to be outdone by Vogan, Potosky came in with an eagle, sinking his third shot. Michaels and Williams sank their fourth shots and had to be satisfied with birdies. Par on the home hole is five. . . . While this fouresome was rejoicing, the Rev. Fr. E. R. Szelong, of Oakland, chalked up an eagle on No. 6, a 380 yard number. The clergyman holed his second shot. At Sylvan Heights, Charlie Perrotta fired an eagle on No. 14. . . .

Diamond jottings—By defeating St. Louis last Saturday afternoon, the Phillies scored their first victory in Sportsman's Park in two years. Returning the next day, the Quakers won the opener of a twin bill. . . . Kansas City has come up with another standout in Charley Stanceu, their star twirler. Stanceu, a former pegger for Scranton has copped five triumphs. He's so stingy he won't give the correct time to A. A. batters. . . . .

It looks like "Diz" Dean will have to try something new if he expects to stick to baseball. Following an examination, a physician suggested that Dean switch to a complete side-arm delivery. The medico found no injury that would hamper such a motion with more of a body pivot that "Diz" has been using. Thus another chapter is added to the colorful career of Dean. . . .

Clay Bryant, Cub tosser, may have to undergo an arm operation for the removal of pieces of chipped bone. . . . Since pegging a no-hitter against the Reds, April 30, Tex Carleton, of the Dodgers, hasn't finished a game. It's the old no-hit jinx. . . . The Phillies have signed Mel Mazzera, ex-St. Louis Brown outfield, who was recently made a free agent by Toronto. . . .

The Minneapolis Millers have the Indian sign on their neighbors, the St. Paul Saints. The Saints have been on the verge of winning several contests, but have managed to wind up on the losing end seven straight times. . . . According to historians, the first night game in baseball was played in 1883, in Fort Wayne, Indiana. . . .

Conn-Lesnevich End Training

Lightheavyweight Championship At Stake In Detroit Battle Wednesday

DETROIT, June 4—Light heavyweight champion Billy Conn, and challenger Gus Lesnevich were to polish off their training grinds with light gymnasium work today while Detroit fight fans warmed up to the prospect of seeing their first title bout of the year tomorrow night.

Conn wound up heavy training in impressive fashion hammering three sparring mates through six fast rounds. Lesnevich, who finished boxing sessions Sunday, confined his workout to shadow boxing, rope skipping and punching the light bag.

Apparently bonds of $2,500 posted by both fighters as assurance that each would make the weight limit of 175 pounds, were safe for Conn weighed 175 1-4 pounds after his workout, and Lesnevich wound up at 174. Noting a pickup in ticket-buying activity yesterday, fight promoters predicted a crowd of between 14,000 and 15,000—meaning a gate between $40,000 and $50,000 would see the bout at Olympia stadium.

SOUTH HILLS WINNER AGAIN

Without a doubt, South Hills is the hottest baseball club in the county.

By walloping the South Side Board of Trade aggregation, 13-2, the powerful Hills club moved a step closer to the American League first half title of the City-County Independent League. The triumph was the ninth in a row without a setback.

The pace-setters lost no time, crossing the plate five times in the first and second and then coasted Brooks, Pat Bulisco, Joe Bulisco, Bill Bulisco and Vernino each garnered a pair of hits. Toscano and P. Isaac were the Trade's best bets with two bingles apiece.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Every once in a while we hear of a group of girls that get together and form an organization and their ambition is to help the community with charity work . . . well the group of girls we have in mind have been working quite hard in this work . . . they have named their club the Sigma Delta Chi . . . they evidently believe the Greeks had a name for their type of work. Here's the point we have been working toward . . . they are going to have a dance on Friday, June 21 at the Field Club . . . with the proceeds going toward their charity work. So if you enjoy dancing, here is a good place to make your money do double work . . . you enjoy the dance and the Sigma Delta Chi club enjoy spending that same money on their charity cases.

The "June Festival" that was held at Taggart Stadium last night was well attended. The six hundred girls that partook were superb. It was a show that those who missed it really missed something. There is nothing finer than to see a soft green carpet covered with bright colors floating around and the right music filling the air. Yes sir folks, the teachers in charge of the affair really deserve a lot of credit . . . here's to more such affairs in the future.

And again we have a dog to give away . . . this one seems to fit the bill that many of you folks have been asking for . . . see it at: Clyde Anderson's, 472 Moore Ave. . . . it is a small spotted dog, part fox terrier and part spaniel. Fine with children.

* * *

How is your garden coming along . . . things really seem to grow these warm days and nights . . . a little rain is alright but a little too much is something again . . . We have a variety of this and that in our garden but one variety of tomato plant that we haven't been able to locate is what we call the grape tomato . . . just small tomatoes that resemble a grape in size and tomato in color . . . also a tomato the shape of a pear and yellow in color . . . both these varieties are small . . . we would appreciate it if you could give us a lead as to where these plants can be bought.

It's nice and warm today . . . keep your chin up . . . summer is here to stay.

Stock Market Firmer Today

Gains Are Small, Trading Continues Slow, Some Stocks Climb Point And More

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 4.—The stock market firmed today. Gains were extremely small, however, and trading continued at a snail's pace.

Steel shares gave a belated response to the jump in production. Bethlehem, which dropped 2⅞ on Monday, opened 1½ higher today and held most of the gain despite light profit-taking. U. S. Steel's advance was just short of a point, while Republic and Youngstown Sheet and Tube added fractions to last night's closings.

A few stocks were able to climb a point or more, including Douglas, United Aircraft, Westinghouse Electric, Loft, American Telephone and Eastman Kodak, which was ex-dividend 1½.

More modest gains were chalked up by General Motors, Chrysler, Du Pont, Lockheed, American Smelting, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, N. Y. Central, American Car and Foundry, Pullman, Standard Oil of N. J., U. S. Rubber and Borg-Warner.

Some issues lagged, as United Gas Improvement, Briggs, Goodyear, Pennsylvania R. R. and Great Northern Railway preferred.

Commodities generally were dull and little changed. Bonds, both foreign and domestic, held within narrow limits.

GIRL IS U. S. SPELLING CHAMP

To Laurel Kuykendall of Knoxville, Tenn., goes the honor and $500 prize money as the best speller in the United States. In competition among nearly 2,000,000 other school children, the Knoxville girl emerged the winner. Final competition was staged in Washington. In the photo with Miss Kuykendall, right, are Douglas D. Cornette, National Spelling Bee editor, and Mrs. Albert Gore, wife of the congressman from Tennessee.

Moving "Tree" of Death

Camouflaged with trees against air attack, a German tank whizzes through a French town during the drive to the Channel ports. These tanks played a vital role in throwing the loop around the Allied army trapped in northern France and Belgium, rushing ahead of the main German armies to encircle the foe. (Central Press)

Cubs To Ship Dean To Tulsa

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 4—Dizzy Dean, after many years of traveling a straight path along major league baseball's glory road as one of the outstanding pitchers of the game, today came face to face with a detour sign that was expected to send him back to the minors.

The Chicago Cubs, who paid the St. Louis Cardinals $185,000, and $75,000 worth of players for the once great righthander three years ago, announced waivers have been obtained on Dean and that the pitcher more or less as his own request probably will be sent to the Cub's Tulsa farm.

Malta Prepared as Italy Cries "Persecution"

Intensive press (controlled) attacks on Great Britain by Italian newspapers, which allege British persecution of Italian minority in Malta, tactics employed by Nazis before an invasion, is viewed by observers to presage early entry of Italy in the war. It is believed Mussolini's first target will be Malta, sixty miles from Sicily (map, right) great Allied naval base, vulnerable to air attack but a tough nut to crack by sea. Top, is Valetta's waterfront, with British ships in the harbor. Bottom, left, one of the guns which ring the island. (Central Press)

War Chariots Right Off the Assembly Line

Important arm of mechanized warfare is the tank corps. Greatly outnumbered in this weapon at beginning of the war, the Allies now are rushing thousands to the front to stem the Nazi blitzkrieg. Decrease Shown In Some Types Of Crime This Year

Crimes Against Persons Waning, While Crimes Against Property Increase

CRIME OF LARCENY LEADS ALL OTHERS

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
International New Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, June 4—With but a single exception substantial decreases in the number of crimes against the person were committed throughout the United States during the first three months of 1940 it was reported by federal bureau of investigation.

This single exceptiaon was negligent manslaughter, which bounced upwards 7.2 per cent.

The trend for property crimes, however, the G-Men charged, tended show an increase in all departments with the single exception of robbery—which was down 5.9 per cent. Automobile thefts showed a six per cent increase while burglaries and larcenies increased about one per cent each.

The decrease in murder which included non-negligent man slaughter amounted to 20.2 per cent: rape six and one half per cent and aggravated assault 3.9 per cent, according to the figures compiled from reports of the largest cities in the United States.

With but few exceptions, the report showed, the average city with over 100,000 population experienced more crime per unit of population during the first quarter of this year than the average smalier community.

Offenses of larcency represented 56.9 per cent of the total crimes reported; burglaries 23.8 per cent, auto thefts, 11.8 per cent and 3.3 per cent were robberies. The remaining 3.7 per cent of the crimes reported consisted of criminal homicides, rapes and aggravated assaults the G-Men stated.

Despite the large increase in the number of automobile thefts, the record showed 97 per cent of the vehicles and 22.1 per cent of other types of stolen property was recovered. Of the larceny cases, 86.5 per cent involved property valued at less than $50 .

The crime rate for offenses of rape was highest in the cities with over 250,000 inhabitants, and the next highest rate for this crime was seen in cities with between 2,500 and 10,000 inhabitants.

More than half of all robberies were committeed on the highways, according to the crime reports. Less than one-fifth of one per cent were bank robberies; 9.4 per cent involved oil stations; 1.1 per cent chain stores, and 29.2 per cent other types of commercial houses.

The value of property stolen during the first three months of the year was estimated at $6,592,081.28 with recovery of 65.5 per cent of the same, or $4,314,813.90 reported by the federal bureau of investigation.

Memorial Will Be Unveiled

Former President Of Westminster, Late Dr. R. M. Russell To Be Honored

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 4.—A memorial photograph of former President Robert M. Russell of Westminster college will be unveiled at the Alumni day luncheon, Saturday, June 8, as a gift from Mrs. R. M. Russell of Mercer. Dr. Russell was president of the college from 1906 until 1916.

Dr. Russell came to the Westminster presidency from the pastorate of the Sixth U. P. church, Pittsburgh. He was largely responsible for raising $400,000 endowment for the college; and while at Westminster served as Moderator of the general assembly of the United Presbyterian church.

In 1916, Dr. Russell resigned from the Westminster presidency and was succeeded by Dr. W. Charles Wallace. He died in 1921.

The photograph will be hung in the office of Dr. R. F. Galbreath, Westminster president.

Unlicensed Dog Owners Arrested

Crusade Against Unlicensed Canines Is Opened In County By McLure

Four owners of unlicensed dogs in Union township have been ordered to appear before Justice of the Peace Edna M. Robison, of Union township, and pay fines for keeping unlicensed dogs. Informations against them have been made before Miss Robison by Harold E. McLure, dog law enforcer of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry.

According to McLure, more arrests will follow in other sections of the county. Ample warning had been given earlier in the year for the owners of these dogs to have them licensed, and arrests are now to follow.
